

The Valley Song

C                      G                      Am                      G
You have led me to the sadness. I have carried this pain
C                                      G                      Am                      G
on a back, bruised, nearly broken. I'm crying out to You!

C
I will sing of Your mercy
G    Am    F
that leads me through valleys of sorrow to rivers of joy!

When death, like a gypsy, comes to steal what I love,
I will still look to the heavens. I will still seek Your face.
But I fear You aren't listening because there are no words.
Just the stillness and the hunger for a faith that assures.

C G    Am G    C G    Am F
Alleluia, alleluia! Alleluia, alleluia!

C                      G                      Am                      G
While we wait for the rescue with our eyes tightly shut
C                                      G                      Am                      G
face to the ground using our hands to cover the fatal cut,
C                      G                      Am                      F
and though the pain is an ocean, tossing us around, around, around,
C                      G                      Am                      F
You have calmed greater waters. Higher mountains have come down!
